

Quality Care and Prevention

We believe in strengthening health care by providing consistent, dependable quality and promoting the principle of prevention. We will harness the powerful promise of advanced research and modern technology to create innovative new treatments and breakthrough cures, promote wellness, and empower consumers with accurate, comprehensive information on quality health care that is available to them.
